

Founded by entrepreneur Amy Holmwood and actor and environmentalist, Woody Harrelson, the Holistic Spirits Co. combines science, nature, and artisanal distillation to create innovative spirits that elevate the palate and the planet.

Infused with a scientifically-patent pending blend of artichoke leaf, elderberry, muscadine grape, and green tea leaf extract, our spirits are designed for a better way to drink and created with transparency around ingredients and sustainable manufacturing in mind.

Infused with:

Elderberry: Austrian elderberries which Europeans have used for centuries for their flavor profile and special plant compounds.

Muscadine Grapes: Native to and only grown in the American South, our muscadines are grown in Wray, Georgia at a sixth-generation family farm.

Green Tea Leaves: Consumed for thousands of years throughout China and Japan, and more recently throughout the world. We use the highest quality green tea leaves available in our patent pending formula.

Artichoke: Artichoke plants are a type of thistle that originated in the Mediterranean and have been used for centuries for their plant compounds. Both spirits use sustainably harvested artichoke leaves grown in the Loire Valley or France at a third-generation family farm.
